

With HCX Hub, you don't have to re-invent the wheel.

Electronic Medical Records function best when there's smooth, flawless communication between the disparate systems out there in the medical world.

HCX Hub from HealthCareXchange is the communications hub linking your EMR system and the wide variety of closed systems that generate and exchange EMR data—physician offices, labs, hospitals and other entities.

HCX Hub provides clean transmission of EMR data from physician office to laboratory and back to physician office—with results LOINC-standardized. HCX Hub can provide affordable lab connections with virtually any lab, including local labs and in-house labs.

HCX Hub is the secure and flexible clearinghouse platform that seamlessly facilitates the flow of EMR data between multiple entities via a single integration point.
